Dear Colleagues,

The Nigeria Physiotherapy Network was extremely elated and very PROUD to learn that a Nigerian trained physiotherapist is making NATIONAL HEADLINE news in the United States of America.

This illustrious Nigerian Physiotherapist and expert in Driving Simulation after Stroke is no other than our very own Dr. Abiodun Emmanuel Akinwuntan, an Assistant Professor and Director, Driving Simulation Laboratory, Department of Physical Therapy, Medical College of Georgia.

Professor Akinwuntan's laboratory and research became the focus of attention of NBC-Augusta recently. It is noteworthy that the NBC-Augusta is the local affiliate of NBC News, American's National News leader. The NBC-Augusta visited Dr. Akinwuntan's laboratory and were so amazed at his work that they made a National spectacle of his Driving Simulation after Stroke Laboratory.

Dr. Akinwuntan can be considered to be world renowned expert on Driving Simulations after Neurological impairments such as stroke has received invitations national and internationally to deliver lectures and seminars on his research activities. He was recently in Alabama where he conducted a 2-day workshop for Physical therapists on Driving Simulations after stroke.

Please join us once again in congratulating Professor Akinwuntan for putting Nigeria Physiotherapy training on the worldmap!

Dr. Akinwuntan can be reached at: aakinwuntan@mcg.edu. Nigeria Physiotherapy Network published a biography of Dr. Akinwuntan last year. Click Here for his biography.
